4. Amount of claim against the Consumer Recovery Account: $ _____

Note: By statute and decisional case law, only a claimant's "actual and direct loss," plus interest at the legal rate from the date of loss, and court costs, are payable from the Consumer Recovery Account. Therefore the actual and direct loss may differ from the amounts awarded in the judgment. Actual and direct loss usually does not include such things as loss of anticipated profits and attorneys fees, and never includes punitive damages. The following questions must be answered in order that it may be determined whether the amounts sought to be paid from the Consumer Recovery Account are allowable.

A. Itemize and explain how the amount of the claim was computed:

B. Itemize and explain the actual out of pocket loss upon which the claim against the Consumer Recovery Account is based:

C. Itemize and explain any amount being claimed above and beyond the actual and direct loss and explain why it is believed that those amounts are collectible from the Consumer Recovery Account. Punitive damages are not collectible from the Consumer Recovery Account, and loss of anticipated profits and attorneys fees are also normally not collectible, so if anything is claimed for those items be sure to explain why it is asserted that those items are collectible.

6. Attach to the Application a detailed narrative statement of facts, signed under penalty of perjury, explaining the allegations of the complaint upon which the civil judgment or criminal restitution order is based. This should be a coherent explanation of the claimant's relationship with the licensee, the nature of the transaction or transactions in which the claimant was involved with the licensee, and the nature of the involvement of any other person, particularly anyone else named as a plaintiff, defendant, cross-complainant, or cross-defendant. A chronological description is usually best.
7. Attach to the Application a statement by the claimant, signed under penalty of perjury, that the complaint upon which the underlying civil judgment is based was prosecuted conscientiously and in good faith. "Conscientiously and in good faith" means that no party potentially liable to the claimant in the underlying transaction was intentionally and without good cause omitted from the complaint, that no party named in the complaint who otherwise reasonably appeared capable of responding in damages was dismissed from the complaint intentionally and without good cause, and that the claimant employed no other procedural tactics contrary to the diligent prosecution of the complaint in order to provide access to the Consumer Recovery Account.

For an application based on a criminal restitution order, claimant must provide a statement, signed under penalty of perjury, that:

- The claimant has not intentionally and without good cause failed to pursue any person potentially liable to the claimant in the underlying transaction other than a defendant who is the subject of a criminal restitution order.
- The claimant has not intentionally and without good cause failed to pursue in a civil action for damages all persons potentially liable to the claimant in the underlying transaction who otherwise reasonably appeared capable of responding in damages other than a defendant who is the subject of a criminal restitution order.
- The claimant employed no other procedural means contrary to the diligent prosecution of the complaint in order to seek to qualify for the Consumer Recovery Account.

8. Explain the basis of the contention that the defendant was performing acts for which the license held by the defendant was required.

9. If the judgment debtor was licensed only as a salesperson at the time of the transaction, was the broker who employed the judgment debtor at the time sued? Yes No

If not, why not?

10. Was any person liable or potentially liable to the claimant in the transaction either not sued or dismissed from the lawsuit? Yes No

If so, explain why, and itemize any funds or other consideration received from that person or persons in settlement of the potential liability of that person or persons.

- 11. Submit copies of all documents relating to the transaction, i.e., escrow documents, loan servicing agreement, deeds of trust, notes, etc.
- 12. Attach a copy of the civil complaint, cross-complaint, or the amended version of those documents upon which the civil judgment is based, or in the case of an application based on a criminal restitution order, a copy of the criminal indictment or information, and a copy of any minute order, statement of decision, or other statement by the court explaining the basis for the judgment or criminal restitution order.
- 13. While this application is pending, claimant expressly agrees to notify the Consumer Recovery Account Unit in writing of any information he or she becomes aware of that any judgment debtor has filed for bankruptcy protection.
- 14. While this application is pending, claimant expressly agrees to notify the Consumer Recovery Account Unit in writing of any assignment or transfer of all or any part of his or her interest in the judgment or criminal restitution order
